Born 1990, Singapore · Lives and works between Singapore and Bangkok

BIOGRAPHY

Shavonne Wong is a Singaporean new media artist working in AI, 3D rendering, and interactive installation.

She began in fashion and advertising photography, then moved into synthetic humans in 3D, and from there into interactive work.

She treats emerging technology as a mirror. Her work asks who we become when machines see, listen, and remember for us, and what we reveal in the conditions under which we extend our trust to them.

Wong's work has been presented at ArtScience Museum Singapore, Art SG, Taipei Dangdai, Art Central Hong Kong, and the Venice Biennale. Forbes 30 Under 30 Asia (2020). Prestige 40 Under 40 (2023). She co-founded NFT Asia and is a member of BLOOM.

In her most recent work Meet Eva Here (2024), thousands of people spoke with a synthetic character through video-call installations and an online chatbot. Those conversations were distilled into 100 Instagram diary posts.

She is currently developing Conditional, a participatory installation exploring the discomfort of being both watched too closely and not seen at all, in which a digital mirror renders the room in full but erases every human from it.

Shavonne is a member of BLOOM, an artist collective, alongside being one of the Co-Founders of NFT Asia, a community dedicated to Asian artists in the NFT space.
